Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Animal Experimentation: A Series of Statements Indicating Its Value to Biological and Medical Science The question, Why not license vivisectors? has been asked. I want to answer that question. There is no authority competent to examine the licensees. We may examine plumbers or dentists or physicians, and license them, because we can obtain a board competent to pass upon their qualifications; but there is no possibility of determining in that way the qualifications of the rare men who are competent to devote themselves to medical research. There are few such men in Massachusetts, and few in any civilized State. Sitting behind me is such a man, a professor in the Harvard Medical School, who makes all the diphtheria antitoxin supplied in Massachusetts by the State Board of Health. It is the best made in the country. Now there is no one in the United States competent to examine Professor Smith and give him a certificate of qualification for that beneficent work. Bishop Lawrence has referred to antitoxin; but he did not mention that in Massachusetts...
